

THE SYRACUSE IMPACT

HIGHLIGHTS OF SCHOLARSHIP IN ACTION

November 5, 2007

WE'RE MORE THAN HALFWAY THERE!

Friday was an incredible day on the SU campus.

Together with Chancellor Nancy Cantor, trustees, and the entire volunteer leadership of the schools and colleges, we launched the public phase of The Campaign for Syracuse University—the most ambitious fundraising effort in the University's 137-year history.

The day was filled with thoughtful discussion and real-life examples of Scholarship in Action. But the highlight was the kick-off ceremony at the Schine Student Center's Goldstein Auditorium. It was there that we announced the total raised so far—an amazing $509,283,799!

To all of the donors who have brought us more than halfway to our goal of $1 billion, we send our heartfelt thanks. Your contributions have taken many forms, from grants to annual gifts to bequests—and much of it has already begun to make an impact on student scholarships, endowed chairs and professorships, interdisciplinary and community engagement initiatives, and infrastructure.

But there is still much work to be done. For Syracuse University to advance Scholarship in Action—for this great institution to continue to provide faculty, students, and alumni with the tools to incite positive change in the world—we must reach our goal.

As we said at the launch, we're thrilled to be leading this campaign. We're so proud of the tremendous response we've received thus far. And we look forward to the future, when our investments in Syracuse University take Scholarship in Action to new heights.
